New Charges In Herrscher Estate Case

New charges were hurled in the estate of Fannie May Herrscher Monday in Judge Maxwell McCutty's Superior Court as Robert S. Howard, a son of the millionaire woman and one of the executors of the $2,500,000 estate, admitted that he knew little of its affairs as they were being handled by his attorneys.

Howard, who with his brother, Lindsey, appeared in court to answer charges by their step-father, Edmund Herrscher, that they had removed as executors of the estate, because of alleged mismanagement of property, Robert Howard had been in New York on business and made a hurried return for the hearing, his attorney, Herbert W. Clark, explained.

Robert Howard took the stand in request of Henry Robinson, counsel for Herrscher, and was asked about the alleged sale of securities and jewelry, their value, and where the proceeds are now kept.

In reply to these questions, as well as those concerning sale of the San Francisco property occupied by Herrscher, Howard explained that his knowledge of the affairs was limited as his lawyers handled most of the business for him.

Herrscher also charged that in one instance the executors paid a $3500 fee, plus expenses, for appraisal of jewelry from funds of the estate. Citing a state law concerning such matters, Judge McCutty ruled that the law had been violated and the fee must be paid from personal funds.

Claiming that the attorneys for Herrscher were questioning several items, including lawyers' fees, which were not part of the scheduled hearing for yesterday, Defense Counsel Clark asked for a continuance until Sept. 18 which was granted.

PLANS MOTION

Mrs. Neenah Hastings Lessemann of Redwood City, state chairman of the National Woman's Party, said today that she has been advised by Alice Paul, national chairman, that Senator Gillette will make the motion to call the equal rights amendment to a vote in the upper house shortly after Labor Day.

Council Starts Abatement Proceedings Against Mrs. Rice; Neighbors Protest

Abatement proceedings will be started against Mrs. Anna M. Rice for operating a boarding house at 226 Edgewood Rd., the city council of Redwood City voted Monday at their regular meeting, after eight neighbors of Mrs. Rice presented a petition protesting the operation of a boarding house in a first class residential district.

A letter from Mrs. Rice to the council, in which she had requested permission to board war workers for the duration in order to ease the housing shortage, was read, and a petition, signed by 53 persons living in the neighborhood and asking that the permission be granted, was also presented in her behalf.

In her letter, Mrs. Rice, who is now boarding eight war workers, told the councilmen "My neighbors know I opened my home only at the request of the War Housing Administration. They know I do not plan or wish to continue this after the duration."

Mrs. Rice's son, Frank, who received an honorable discharge from the navy six months ago, addressed the council, asking that they consider ways and means "to permit us to assist in war housing."

Councilman C. C. Armstrong, pointing out that the Rices were committing a violation of the city zoning ordinance, introduced a motion to deny a permit. He said the council had no right to grant permission since any approval of her conducting a rooming house in the district would be an approval of breaking the law.

To this followed considerable discussion in which signers of both petitions spoke their views to the council.

Bert L. Werder, signer of the petition which asked the council to deny the permit and requested abatement of Mrs. Rice's property, asked the council what assurance the property owners in the district had that exceptions to the rule would be only temporary.

"War effort or no war effort, it's no place for a boarding house," he said, referring to the district's first class status in the zoning ordinance.

Rice told councilmen that no additional facilities had been added to the property in the past seven years, assuring them that his mother had no intention of making her home into a permanent boarding house.

Question as to the location of a cabin in the rear of the Rice home arose when Werder challenged the legality of permitting two houses on a one-house lot.

City Atty. Paul A. McCarthy related that a survey of the property had been made several years ago in regard to an unsatisfactory tenant in the rear, and that it was then learned the cottage, originally a horse barn, had been built before Redwood City's first zoning ordinance was adopted.

The cottage, since then completely remodeled now has six rooms. W. T. Langley, Mrs. E. L. Scheiber, Mrs. Therese W. Coffey, and Mrs. John Gill were neighbors of Mrs. Rice who spoke in her behalf.

Langley related the cleanliness of the Rice home and told councilmen "any one of you would be proud to live in it."

"The neighbors never complained before; do you think it is right that they should start this now?" Mrs. Scheiber asked.

One of the volunteer circulators of the petition, Mrs. Scheiber, said that those neighbors who refused to sign it objected on the grounds they feared the permit for a boarding house would lead to a permanent approval, and that as a consequence, property values might be lowered.

Mrs. Gill asked the council to approve the boarding house on a month to month basis to ensure the dissenting neighbors that such action would not be permanent.

She referred to past use of the Rice home by previous owners who had run a boarding house, and she added, "that went on for 14 years. Before that, I heard it was something much worse."

H. A. Nelson spoke briefly to ask the council to deny the permit.

Councilman Armstrong, who declared that "we must not close our eyes to a violation of an ordinance," was joined in his opinion by four of the councilmen, but Councilmen Fletcher and Britschgi voted that the permit be granted.

Britschgi had said "I was put on the council for my own judgment," adding that his judgment did not permit such rigid adherence to the law in wartime.

"Tolerance for the duration," was argued by Fletcher. Both men felt

Council Okays Pedestrian Lane

Upon the recommendation of the Redwood City Traffic Study Committee, the city council Monday night authorized the painting of a pedestrian lane on Broadway from Arch St. to facilitate the passing of high school students.

The council also issued permits for public dances to be held at Foresters Hall by Yvonne Schlichtmann on Aug. 23 and 30, and by Court Madrone No. 158, Foresters of America on Aug. 26 and Sept. 2.

Permission was granted the Community Church of San Carlos to conduct a running sale Nov. 1 through the 3rd at a location on Main St.

Approval of an application for an on sale beer license was granted Rocco Basile, 709 El Camino Real, through the State Board of Equalization. Councilman C. C. Armstrong went on record as objecting to the permit.

City Atty. Paul A. McCarthy announced that a five foot easement had been granted the city by August P. Gelardi and Dina Gelardi for sewer and utility lines. The property is in Woodside Acres.

In reply to Floyd Granger, City Mgr. Robert W. Mead reported that the yacht harbor was in good shape.

A special meeting of the city council will be held Monday, Aug. 28, it was announced.

Cruelty To Animals Charge Against Pair

Warrants have been issued charging two Burlingame men with cruelty to animals and with shooting on a public road as a result of the men allegedly killing a calf belonging to L. C. Smith on Crystal Springs Rd. near the County Relief Home about 8 p.m. on Aug. 3.

Ernest Walkup, 108 Bancroft Ave., Burlingame, admitted he shot the animal with a .22 caliber rifle. He said he thought it was a deer. He is now on a vacation but is to be served with the warrant upon his return.

Frederick K. Mitchell, 718 Laurel Ave., Burlingame, is free of $250 cash bail.

The two were traced after two boys who drove along just after the shooting to see the calf tumble down a hill gave the license number of the car to Burlingame police. The police reported to the sheriff's office which, with the San Mateo County Cattleman's Assn., has been investigating the case.

HONOR WHEELER, EDLING

Two former San Carlos volunteer firemen who retired recently after serving 21 years on the department, were honored at a dinner Saturday night. The two are Edward J. Wheeler, fire chief, and his assistant, Julius Edling.

Both men were members of the original department.

that Mrs. Rice was helping to ease the critical housing shortage by renting rooms.

Ferris W. Miles, Redwood City businessman and president of the chamber of commerce, sharply criticized the council for their action.

"The council should give thought to other things coming up," he said. "Maybe the ordinances are hindering the war effort, not helping."

At the suggestion of Councilman Anderson, the council considered the starting of abatement proceedings against the property. Anderson made a motion that the proceedings be carried over on the agenda from month to month, and in that manner, the residents of the

Menlo Park Council Adopts $37,675 1944-45 Budget

The Menlo Park City Council gave the $37,675 proposed budget for 1944-45 the green light this week by a unanimous vote.

Only dissenting note was a protest of Edward Quayle against the special tax of 16c that was being levied to raise $4,600 to match a like amount allocated from state funds for postwar public improvements.

Mr. Quayle called the assessment unnecessary and stated that Menlo Park is too small to be planning the construction of a city hall or any other public buildings. He warned the council against planning "castles in the air" and heavy taxation.

J. W. Pembroke, stormy figure of past council meetings, agreed that the 16c should be levied, but suggested that it should be earmarked for the construction of a sewerage farm or a public high school for Menlo Park.

Mrs. Mary Carter, speaking for 12 other property owners of Roble Ave., who had previously filed a written protest, voiced objections to Mrs. Maud E. Huestie's request to move her boarding house from 930 El Camino Real to 664 Roble Ave.

Mrs. Shirley Cooper of 684 Roble Ave. also registered protest of the move unless Mrs. Huestie promised to improve the small building already on the lot. Mrs. Cooper said that the small structure on the adjoining lots resembled something out of "The Grapes of Wrath" and she didn't want another frame building to add to the fire hazard. She was assured by City Atty. James O'Keefe that Mrs. Huestie's house would have to comply with the existing city building code.

Two letters from property owners of Stanford Park and Menlo Grove protesting the assessment for additional street work were read to the members of the council last night. The Stanford Park letter was signed by 135 taxpayers and the Menlo Grove letter by 18. Both protests stated that "the cost of this 'street work' has largely been paid for in assessments covering a

EXCHANGE CLUB

Granville Browning, manager of the Burlingame Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday showed the civil defense war council film, "Sucker Bait," to members of the Redwood City Exchange Club. The club met at Johnny's Cafe. Ray Spangler was chairman of the meeting.

Four Sons Fight; She Gives Blood

Four sons are quite a lot to give to your country in its battle against the forces of evil; no one feels that more deeply than Mrs. Hazel Peterson, 830 Katherine St., whose four oldest sons have already entered the armed forces and a fifth may follow shortly, if the war does not end soon.

Mrs. Peterson's contribution of four sons to the war effort might be considered sufficient, even though she did nothing else; however, she is determined that the war end quickly so her boys will return safely and that is why she is a member of the Red Cross Blood Bank "gallon club" and is assisting in numerous other home front activities.

Nine times Mrs. Peterson has contributed a pint of life saving blood to the local Red Cross, giving her membership in the club along with approximately 60 others from this area, but recognition for this patriotic gesture is not what she seeks; all she hopes is that the war will end before all of her sons must leave her.

Today, Mrs. Peterson's four oldest sons are fighting with every branch of the service. Lawrence, a private in the army, was the first to enter the armed forces, being inducted in 1941 before this country had gone to war.

Lawrence was followed in 1942 by Harold, now a first class petty officer in the navy. A year later, Kenneth, now a cook, third class, in the navy, entered the service, and most recent member of the family to leave was Royce, now a private in the marines, who was inducted this year.

A fifth son, Norman, who is still too young, and a daughter, Mrs. Phyllis Shields of San Carlos, are the other children in the family. It is her motherly hope that Norman, who will become eligible for service in less than a year, shall not have to suffer the taste of war that spurs Mrs. Peterson's patriotic home front activities.

The Redwood City Red Cross blood bank is looking for more Mrs. Petersons who are willing to share their life-giving plasma with some boy in New Guinea or France who might need it more than the folks at home.

Appointments may be made by calling Redwood 118, Mrs. Betsy Heathman of the Blood Donor Division reports.

LIFE INSURANCE for Household Appliances

It's a Good Policy

with Timely Care and Repair

There are three things you can do to insure longer life and better performance from your household appliances...

1. Handle with care. Your appliances are not as new as they used to be—so give them old-age care. Avoid sudden jars or jolts. Be careful not to overheat them or overtax their capacity for work.

2. Take care to stop wear. Brush out the small collection of dirt and dust that gathers on appliances. Where needed, "doctor up" moving parts with a few drops of oil. Use a screw driver and cinch up loose screws or bolts.

3. Durationize with timely repair. When any appliance begins to "act up" and persists in making funny noises, call a repair man. Tell him what the trouble is and get that trouble remedied as soon as possible.

You will probably not be able to buy new appliances for a long time. Take care of what you have. Keep them in repair. Ask our local office for name of Authorized Service and Repair Dealer.

City Manager Mead Submits Huge Program

Taking the first definite step toward a November vote on an unprecedented $998,000 post-war program of public works, the Redwood City Council this week unanimously passed a resolution of intent and will at a special meeting next Monday night study an ordinance on the proposed plan.

The action is believed by City Mgr. Robert W. Mead to be one of the first of its kind among Pacific Coast cities.

If the council passes the resolution next Monday night, the ordinance will go to the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors for its consideration on Sept. 5, which is the last meeting at which a proposed referendum can be submitted and if approved appear on the November, 1944, ballot.

The proposal, if passed, will call for a bond issue for the amount of the program, but it has not yet been determined the type of bond which will be most practical.

Covering nearly every city need and including several projects to and to the beauty and attraction of Redwood City, the program if passed by the voters will make this city one of the most modern and beautiful in the country, Mead said.

Mead, who with the help of City Atty. Paul McCarthy and R. J. Clarke, acting city engineer, drew up tentative plans for the program and submitted them to each member of the city council four weeks ago. Last night as the last chance for action which would permit the program to reach the voters this November, Mead asked for immediate action by the council and received it when Councilman Evans Fletcher made the motion to pass the resolution of intent, Councilman Harold Anderson seconded and the council unanimously voted in favor of the motion.

Largest project listed in the extensive $998,000 program is a new sewage treatment plant and sewer at a cost of $300,000. The plant designed will provide for the population of 35,000 anticipated in Redwood City by 1965. The plant will include the latest type equipment housed in a structure of attractive and modern design.

"This project is a must" on our public works list since the State of California has ordered all communities bordering the bay to install sewage treatment plants at the earliest possible date to stop pollution of the waters and shores of the bay," Mead said.

Second in the expenditure list on the program is a plan for a 30-acre recreation center and park in the city. Included in tentative plans for the center are a swimming pool, baseball fields, football fields, archery ranges, volley ball, handball and tennis courts, a large grandstand of modern design. In addition the center will include an open air dancing pavilion, community buildings and picnic grounds.

Also included in the plans for the $224,000 recreation center and park program are improvements of California Square, formerly known as Native Daughters' Park, which is located just north of the County Court House; improvement of Hawes Park; development of the Easter Bowl in the Emerald Lake hills into a modern amphitheater which will offer opportunities for outdoor concerts and theatrical productions; and development of facilities at the Redwood City Yacht Harbor.

Other important additions to the city included in the proposed post-war program are establishment of a branch library and a No. 2 fire department.

Breakdown of the costs of the various projects included in the program is:

Department	Maximum Expenditure
Bridges	$30,000
Creeks and Channels	33,000
City Entrances	13,000
Drainage	65,000
Electrical System	35,000
Fire Protection	38,000
Garbage Dump	16,000
Library	30,000
Maple St. Retaining Wall	3,000
Street Markers	9,000
Police Protection and Law Enforcement	50,000
Parking Lots and Improvements	58,000
Recreation Center and Parks	224,000
Sewage Treatment Plant, Sewers	300,000
Streets and Roads	52,000
Tree Planting	30,000
Yacht Harbor	12,000

Total . . . $998,000
Tying in with the city program are plans for the building of an airport, the initial public move on which was made by Raymond Hess of the Civil Aeronautics Authority who last night appeared before the council urging the building of an airport here.

Also sought under federal, state and county funds will be a new city hospital.

MOTOR BURNS OUT
The electric motor in a pump house at 238 Alden St. burned out Saturday afternoon resulting in a call for the Redwood City Fire Dept. Damage was confined to the motor itself, firemen said.

COMMUTERS: Comments On Saturday's Barbecue

By JOE CABOOSE

Despite absence of "45 minutes of vaudeville" as advertised, the annual barbecue and dance of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce at Sequoia High School Saturday night was a gratifying success from every angle. And it had a lot of angles. Impresario Ned Butler was as nervous as a father-to-be for the first time. But you couldn't blame him. The party was his "baby" and no one wants to sponsor a floperoo.

We know Ned was nervous because we facetiously offered him our pocket comb to smooth down his hair. And he took it! Ned had a nice show and a 12-piece band from Dibble Hospital all lined up, only to have it cancelled at the last minute because of some complications with the union. But with such capable men running the party as Fred Schmidt, general chairman, Chef Holmquist in charge of cuisine, and Bill Curran as master of ceremonies, Ned should have known there was nothing to worry about.

With the vaudeville acts cancelled out, we were a little concerned about the Great Curran. To ask Bill to emcee a show without acts is like sending Commando Kelly into battle without a gun. But Bill did all right. We don't know what he told the speakers he called on, but he must have threatened them with sudden and horrible extinction if they talked over two minutes. Because no one did. And that, for a chamber of commerce affair, is a record unique indeed.

President Ferris Miles' address of welcome required only a minute and a half, and Mayor Hilton's speech consumed about 15 seconds. The dinner was superb, and was enjoyed by about 30 persons more than last year. Clark Rice never missed a dance. For fancy stepping our vote goes to Gene Barrett. A score or more commuters were present, headed by President and Mrs. Stanley Perkins.

After such affairs, some people go to taverns. Others go to Elmer Ross' home, where the refreshments are free. We were among the latter Saturday night. There we became acquainted with the famous Duncan "Mozart" Reynard, who played the piano for hours and humored a number of us into believing we could sing. These included Dr. James Thornton, Wrex Cruise and Elmer the Great himself. But we're prepared to argue the point with anyone who cares. When Elmer's dog started howling we knew the singing wasn't all it should be.

Getting back to the C-of-C party for a moment, we think brevity of speech can be overcome. For instance, we think it would have been appropriate for President Miles or Manager Butler to have taken another five minutes to tell the group about the chamber's postwar plans... about that hospital we're going to build, the storm sewers and sewage disposal, and above all the RR underpasses which are an immediate and crying need. Some assurance that these projects have more substance than mere conversation would be most welcome to the people of Redwood City.

The Brizee-Morgan families are back home after spending two weeks at Bert's cabin on the Russian River... The Curran-Winklebeck families are spending this week at Santa Cruz... Mr. and Mrs. Ed Horgan of Atherton entertained another houseful of convalescing veterans from Dibble Hospital Sunday... Their own boy is getting his wings in the Army Air Corps this week... Wendell Ebner is going into drydock at St. Mary's Hospital for a general checkup and overhaul... Through Mrs. Ross Winchester we receive a complaint from Red Cross Field Director Norman Meyer and his wife, now at Fort Lewis, Wash., because they missed last week's column. Mrs. Winchester has been sending them the Tribune. (Cheerio to the Meyers!)

San Francisco newspapers are over-working a word these days that this writer would like to have defined. We should like to know what is a "socialite." We see that one of them—a woman—is accused of murdering a youth in Monterey county, and another "socialite"—this time a man—is accused of robbing a home in Hillsborough. The nearest our dictionary comes to the word is "socialist." Whatever the word "socialite" means, according to the record lately, it must be something bad.

Tempo of the war in the Pacific is increasing... SF is the main jumping off place... The five new Central RR of N. J. coaches are a welcome addition to SP commuter service... Dan Lebo went to work at 6:30 Saturday morning to catch up on some bookkeeping detail.

Still half asleep, he forgot to turn off the burglar alarm system as he unlocked his front door. Result: cops and early-rising citizens dashed to his store, thinking the Broadway oasis was being burglarized.

A house committee meeting will be held tomorrow night (Tuesday) at the home of Tom Giannini where final plans will be drawn for the Commuters' big annual barbecue at the Richard turn Suden estate in Emerald Lake. The date has been set for Sunday, Sept. 3. That much is final, so you better mark your calendar NOW!

Li. Paul Leigh Back Awaiting Discharge

First Lt. Paul Leigh, optometrist, who closed his office at 12 California St. in May, 1942, reopened it today. He is awaiting discharge from the Air Transport Command. Dr. Leigh served for a year as a civilian pilot towing gliders. For the past 1½ years he has been in the ATC, ferrying four-motored bombers to Pacific bases. He has been to Australia, he disclosed.

The first night airmail flight was made in 1921.

Boxes for Sending Articles To War Prisoners Available

Government issue boxes in which food, clothing, and other articles can be sent to prisoners of war, have been received by the Redwood City office of the American Red Cross and are now available to relatives of prisoners, it was announced this week.

Cards on which messages may be sent to prisoners in Japan are also available at the Red Cross headquarters, Broadway and Jefferson Ave.

A letter from the Pacific area office of the Red Cross which has been received here suggests that families of war prisoners use the current next-of-kin labels to send their own Christmas parcels, and no special Christmas label will be issued by the Provost Marshal's office.

Disruption of rail transport in Southern France has necessitated the redirection of the largest shipment of food parcels for prisoners of war ever sent by the Red Cross to Germany, the local Red Cross office learned today.

Herold Yoho In News Again

Herold Yoho, 32, of Sharp Park, was in the news again this week.

Yoho, who last Friday told sheriff's deputies he had been hit over the head and robbed of his automobile and $25 in cash and who admitted the following day that his story was a hoax, was lodged in the county jail here Monday night on a charge of battery.

Red-headed Mrs. Jeanette Dressen of Edgemar, who claimed she suffered a broken nose and two black eyes in a fight with Yoho, signed the complaint charging him with battery. She stated she met him in a bar at Sharp Park and that he offered to give her a ride to a drug store. Instead he attempted to attack her and then beat her up, she complained.

Yoho was released yesterday morning on $1000 cash bail. He told deputy sheriffs Friday that he was returning home from work about 8:30 p.m. Thursday and gave a lift to two hitchhikers, one a sailor and the other a civilian, outside of Daly City, and that they hit him over the head and robbed him.

The Swedish vessels, Mangalore and Travancore, which left Philadelphia with their prisoner of war cargo in July, were held at Barcelona, Spain, until transportation could be arranged to Sweden from which smaller ships will take the shipment to German ports.

The two ships carried nearly two million food parcels as well as clothing, miscellaneous supplies, cigarettes and tobacco, and capture parcels for newly arrived prisoners of war. Eighty-two tons, 3400 sacks, of prisoner of war mail were also aboard.

The previous route for prisoner of war supplies bound for Germany were through Lisbon and Marseille to Geneva and on to the camps. However, trains have practically ceased to run from Marseille, and it becomes necessary to obtain safe conduct for the ships on another route. This negotiation was complicated, since it involved communications by the International Committee of the Red Cross with five governments and the owners of the ships. The necessity of some change in routes because of transportation snarls had been foreseen by the American Red Cross even before D-Day, however, so new plans could be carried out rapidly.

Menlo Park Legion Plans Paper Drive

MENLO PARK—Menlo Park Post 443, American Legion, is working out plans for collection of waste paper and tin cans in that community, the salvage depot arrangement having proved unsatisfactory, the Menlo Park War Council said today.

It is expected that dates will be announced soon for pickups of bundled paper and flattened cans from curbstones. In the meantime, bundles of paper and magazines may still be left beside garbage cans for collection, but no more cans are to be taken to the previously designated depot.

War council members said that junk of all sorts as well as dirty and unflattened cans were dumped at the salvage depot, making it necessary to discontinue the arrangement.

Probation Committee Votes 4-3

The lid was blown sky-high off the tempest pot this week with the long-talked-of ouster of Francis J. Robinson as county probation officer being recommended to Juvenile Judge Aylett R. Cotton by a 4-3 vote of the County Probation Committee.

The recommendation lighted the fuse to cause political explosions

Judge A. R. Cotton contacted this week by a Tribune reporter stated that he had complete confidence in the County Probation Committee and that he would dismiss Robinson as soon as he receives a formal report from the committee.

and a new flareup of animosities among county officials.

Committee Chairman Joseph L. Hyman said he would communicate with Judge Cotton, who has the power of removal, some time today for a discussion of yesterday afternoon's meeting. Judge Cotton could not be located by reporters at his San Mateo home, where he was a time yesterday, or at his hotel at Santa Cruz, where he has been vacationing, for a statement on whether or not the recommendation of the committee to remove Robinson would be carried out.

Meantime, Maxwell McNutt, judge of Superior Court Dept. 1, came to the aid of Robinson with the declaration that "it would be infinitely more appropriate for Judge Cotton, whose guide, philosopher and friend is George Chiossi, to resign as judge of the juvenile court and take his puppet members with him. He knows, as everyone else in the county knows, that it all grows out of an attempt by Chiossi to corrupt justice. That attempt was blocked by Mr. Robinson and myself."

Judge McNutt was referring to George H. Chiossi, San Mateo insurance broker and at one time known as the "Little Caesar" of county politics, who in 1938 was ordered to resign by McNutt's court on a contempt charge. McNutt charged Chiossi, political manager for Judge Cotton, had "sold" the court house for $1000 as a result of accepting $100 from the mother of a San Mateo painter charged with drunk driving and causing personal injury with the promise to get the man out on probation. Probation Officer Robinson produced a cancelled $100 check payable to Chiossi and signed by the mother. Chiossi served two days in jail for contempt.

Voting in favor of Robinson's dismissal were Chairman Hyman, Edward H. Cosgriff, Mrs. Theresa Altieri and Judge Edward I. Auliffe. Opposing Robinson's ouster were Henry Hall, Col. Charles N. Kirkbride and Mrs. Laura Steele.

The motion was made by Cosgriff after Robinson refused to resign. (A motion had been made earlier in the meeting by Cosgriff that Robinson be "allowed to resign if he so desires." The vote was the same in the recommendation for Robinson's ouster).

Kirkbride made the assertion that "This is an insult to a man who has performed a public duty for a good many years."

Robinson has been probation officer since 1930.

Cosgriff said it was evident that there is friction between the committee and Robinson and that one had to yield to the other. He said that there had been nothing but discord since he has been on the committee and declared that "it reduces itself to this point, either the committee or the probation officer has to resign, because they cannot meet on common ground."

Judge McAuliffe said he would be glad to resign. McAuliffe, discussing his vote in favor of Robinson's ouster, declared: "This will do me more harm than any one present. Mr. Robinson has a great many friends..."

McAuliffe's vote was the deciding factor in the 4-3 decision, as in the past McAuliffe had blocked any more to remove Robinson from office. McAuliffe earlier in the day yesterday had told reporters that he would acquiesce with the committee on any action it took to rectify the situation, which he termed very unsatisfactory, regardless of political repercussions, saying that what he did would be in the interest of children.

McAuliffe said the problem was not a new one. He reminded the committee of the resignation of Mrs. Bliss Regnart in 1942 as superintendent of the juvenile home and of Lee Alderman as assistant probation officer last week because of disharmony among personnel.

"We made an appointment," McAuliffe said, referring to Alderman, "and it lasted only six weeks. Alderman was not showed down. Mr. Robinson's throat. Now we are asked to appoint two new deputies. How long will they last?"

New appointments to the two vacancies were not made. Cosgriff said he didn't think it would be wise to appoint deputies until the differences of opinion on preventative measures are settled.

Hyman said that under the welfare and institutions code with the committee is solely concerned, the group could not consider the proposal to separate the jobs of adult probation officer and juvenile probation officer.

Robinson today told reporters that "I feel very certain that there is a political move some place..."

"I feel very sure in my own mind because of the way this matter was handled and because of the lack of any charges that there is something a great deal deeper and that is the reason for these members requesting my resignation," Robinson said. "I feel very certain that there is a political move some place and this is used as a subterfuge to remove me from the position which I now hold."

"However, I have not as yet received any official notice from Judge Cotton that I am to be relieved of my duties and I am remaining on the job taking care of the probation work as usual."

"I want the people of this county to know that I have served in this capacity for a period of 14 years, during which time I have served under Judge Buck, Judge Swart and Judge Cotton, and at no time has his Honor, Judge Cotton, or any of the other previous judges notified me either in person or in writing that they had any fault to find.

"Therefore, it seems rather unusual that a group of four people, some of whom are at present county employees and working under civil service in this county should fire me without first filing some formal charges or have a hearing."

Workers Needed In Fruit Plants

Block matrons have been called out locally to canvass their areas in an effort to find volunteer workers for the Sutter fruit packing plant in Palo Alto, Mrs. S. S. Mayo, chairman of the food committee of the Redwood City War Council, reported this week.

Boys and girls between the ages of 16 and 18 are eligible to work at the prevailing wage scale, if they have work permits. Special victory shifts, 7 p. m. to midnight have been arranged for those working on other jobs who have only evenings available.

Mrs. Mayo explained that the Greyhound bus takes workers to the plants, and where private automobiles are used, gasoline can generally be provided. Further information can be had by calling the local war council.

Santa Clara Ave. Rivalry In Dog Show

Possibility that friendly civil war might develop between neighbors during the national all-breed dog show, Sept. 3, at Sequoia High School, was indicated today by Chm. R. W. Poole with receipt of entries by two Atherton families residing on Santa Clara Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen B. Dutton will show their Dalmatian "Spot" and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Butler will show their Dalmatian "Spec." Both will be entering exhibits in a national dog show for the first time.

Thursday is the deadline for posting entries, Chairman Poole explained. Entry blanks may be obtained from Mrs. L. E. Lomax, Redwood City. Poole said that pedigrees are not needed.

Urges Planting Of More Gardens

San Mateo County people were urged this week by the San Mateo County War Council to plan for fall and winter victory gardens and grow as much as they possibly can, because of the increased needs of the army and navy.

Norvell Gillespie, Pacific Coast director of the National Victory Garden Institute, speaking at a meeting of the council, explained that governmental needs will be 100 per cent higher during the coming year as they were last year.

Gillespie added, "San Mateo County is blessed with climatic conditions that make it possible to grow many needed crops all year long, and it is necessary that thousands of home owners take advantage of this and grow their own vegetables to help avert an acute shortage."

Explaining that the West Coast has its toughest problems ahead, Gillespie explained, "When the real push in the Pacific starts every bit of food in our warehouses and being grown will become an essential factor in supplying our armed forces."

Theodore M. Lillenthal, director of the County War Council, pointed out that "although we aren't going to starve for want of food this winter, it is undeniable that home grown vegetables are better and fresher, and victory gardens are one of the most important homefront activities."

Others in attendance at the meeting included George Davis, chairman of the county home food production committee; Max Leonard, county agricultural commissioner; James Tormey, member of the staff at San Mateo Junior College; and Mrs. Oscar Thayer, chairman of exhibits, home food production committee.

R. C. Population Shows 15% Increase

Redwood City's population has increased 15 per cent since 1940, figures released by state census officials this week revealed. The local population today is estimated at 14,662, an increase of 2210 in the past four years.

The rise has been general throughout the San Francisco Bay Area, with the following population totals released from Sacramento: Belmont, 2257, up 1028; Burlingame, 17,395, up 1455; San Bruno, 15,178, up 8659; San Carlos, 6311, up 2791; San Mateo, 26,805, up 7402.

Walkup Reads Paper, Gives Self Up

Ernest Walkup, 31, 108 Bancroft Rd., Burlingame, appeared at the county jail here over the weekend, told deputy sheriffs he had read in the newspaper that there was a warrant out for his arrest, gave himself up and put up $250 cash bail.

Walkup, along with Frederick K. Mitchell, 718 Laurel Ave., Burlingame, is charged with cruelty to animals and shooting on a public road as the result of their allegedly shooting a calf on property of L. C. Smith on Crystal Springs Rd. at 8 p.m. Aug. 3. Mitchell earlier had put up $250 cash bail.

Hess Urges Redwood City Airport Plan

Redwood City's place in post war aviation in regard to facilities for privately-owned small airplanes was outlined to the Redwood City City Council Monday night by Raymond Hess, representative of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, who urged the councilman to consider the building of a city-owned airport here.

Hess, who represents the airport service of the CAA, estimated that there would be more than 7000 privately-owned planes in this area after the war.

Approximately 25 or 30 airports will be needed to accommodate these many planes, he said.

At present, facilities are available at the San Francisco airport and at Palo Alto, he said, but neither of these fields will be favorable for the many San Franciscans who will own their own planes after the war.

He pointed out that San Francisco's field will be used principally for commercial aviation, and also, that the weather at Mills Field is heavy and gusty and not always safe for smaller planes.

San Mateo County will offer the most ideal locations, Hess continued, as the distance from San Francisco will enable easy accessibility to flying fields.

Redwood City and San Mateo are the two spots that have been chosen as the most ideal for airports, he emphasized.

The CAA has mapped out possible sites in San Mateo, Redwood City, Woodside, Palo Alto, San Jose and Santa Clara, he said, but construction and improvement, he revealed.

For safety reasons, Hess explained, airports should be constructed not nearer than six miles apart, since the CAA considers a three mile turning area for each airport as being necessary to avert mid-air collisions.

Past experience has shown that private interest, Hess told the councilmen, is the key to the problem.

The expense of building and maintaining safe landing fields is too great for individuals, and should be carried on as a public project.

The CAA has mapped out specific sites in Redwood City, Hess replied in answer to a question from Councilman Floyd Granger, but because property owners unjustly boost the price of their property in anticipation of possible purchase, names of the locations are not announced publicly.

Prior to the war, we had the best civil aviation in the world, Hess concluded, and interest in flying will continue to keep it up in the future.

The Peninsula will attract many of the aviation enthusiasts if facilities are made available to them, he said.

Atherton Estate Sold for $60,000

Sale of a 4 1/2 acre Atherton estate by Mrs. Mary W. Stewart to Clara Nixon Livingstone for $60,000 was indicated by stamps on a deed filed with the San Mateo County recorder Saturday.

In another real estate transfer in the county Burleigh and Nannette Murray sold a 58.13 acre tract in Hillsdale to David D. Bohannon, San Mateo realtor, for an indicated price of $39,000.

The rubberized sheets for baby's carriage and crib should be protected from exposure to sun, heat and oil.

Legion, Auxiliary Back Proposition 1 on Ballot

ED W. BOLT, Chairman, Veterans' Home and Farm Committee.

Organization of a state-wide committee of volunteer California men and women, working in co-operation with members of the American Legion and Auxiliary, is being completed, to campaign for the passage of Proposition No. 1 on the November 7 state election ballot. The proposal provides a $30,000,000 bond issue for the purchase of homes and farms for Veterans of World War II. The measure is similar to the four bond issues overwhelmingly voted by the citizens of California, enabling over 19,000 U.S. service men and women of the first World War to acquire their own homes and farms. The Veterans' Welfare Board administered $89,300,000 on these loans, without costing the state, counties or taxpayers a single penny. The tremendous success of the program is nationally known, and many states have sought to pattern their present veterans' aid measures after it.

Ed W. Bolt of San Francisco, prominent California war veterans' leader, is general chairman of the state-wide committee being formed to work for the Veterans' Home and Farm Bond issue. The general committee will include representatives of civic, patriotic, fraternal, veterans, welfare, labor, business and community service organizations throughout California. General Chairman Bolt has announced the receipt at State headquarters of the Veterans' Farm and Home Committee, 1006 Merchants Exchange Building, San Francisco, of resolutions unanimously adopted by organizing men and women's organizations representing several millions of members, warmly praising the plan, and urging its passage on November 7 by a tremendous majority.

"Adoption of Proposition No. 1 by the people of California will accord fitting recognition to the state's valiant service men and women, provide a sound investment in finance and security to the state and veterans, and assure an early reestablishment of California's World War II in family and community life," Chairman Bolt stated.

"The families of our service men and women are vitally interested in the future welfare of their loved ones, and acclaim this constructive program for California's returning veterans. To the families and friends of these legions of service men and women, we direct a special invitation to join the movement to help the American Legion and all patriotic groups achieve a virtually unanimous adoption of this worth-while measure on November 7."

San Bruno Girl Commits Suicide

Daphin Phillips, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Phillips, 565 5th Ave., San Bruno, died in the South San Francisco Hospital Tuesday morning from an ant poison which she took Saturday night because she was mad at her parents. An autopsy will be held.

The girl was alone in her home Saturday night when she took the poison. Four children who came to visit her found her in a semi-conscious condition and called a neighbor. The neighbor called the police who rushed her to the hospital.

Old Fashioned Dance At Policemen's Ball

Old fashioned melodies will feature the Peninsula Police Officers' Assn. dance, Saturday, under the main grandstand at Bay Meadows Race Track, Chmn. Thomas Connors reported this week.

Proceeds from this annual dance go toward the widows' and orphans' fund of the association, and the largest attendance in history is expected, Connors said.

Parking facilities will be available at the track, Connors explained, and Officer Edward Ma of the San Carlos Police Dept. will be in charge.

Council Adopts $1.49 Rate To Meet $385,891 Budget

The Redwood City City Council Monday adopted a $385,891.56 budget for 1944-45, calling for a tax rate of $1.49 per $100 assessed value.

The higher tax rate was made necessary by the special five cent levy for post-war development and a special seven and one-half cent levy for a war memorial, in addition to the needed increased revenues for bond interest and retirement.

Tax rate for general governmental and operating expense shows a decrease to $912.4 from last year's rate of $947.

The $1.49 tax rate is for the old town and annexation of 1933. Mead explained, while the South Redwood and Carmelita Manor rate will be $1.4428, Port Area, $1.1892, and the Friend Industrial tract and Red Feather Annexation rate will be $1.1894.

Total appropriation in the 1944-45 budget as submitted by City Mgr. Robert W. Mead and approved by the council was $385,891.56 as compared with that of $346,855.00 for the past year.

The major items making up this increase were $14,000 for the redemption of bonds, $5000 refund to the water department, $8800 special levy for post-war development, and $13,000 special levy for a war memorial.

The operating expenditures for the water department provides for an appropriation of $169,700 as against an expenditure for the last year of $164,200.56, an increase of $5,499.44.

Appropriations for capital expenditures in the water department are $11,950, as against $12,854.91 expended last year, a decrease of $904.91.

Agreements signed with the State Division of Highways provides for the expenditure of gas tax on streets of major importance in the amount of $10,500, Mead said, but this has not been appropriated in the budget statement as the funds obtained from this source must be kept in a separate account and may be expended only on specific projects approved by the state, he added.

Youth Returns To Log Cabin

Jack Frawley, 14-year-old youth who received a third degree burn in the Log Cabin Ranch fire last Saturday was back at work today, almost fully recovered, John W. Watson, director of the school, reported.

Frawley's back was badly burned when he attempted to enter the dormitory that was eventually destroyed completely by flames to recover some of his clothes, Watson explained. Frawley was taken to the Mission Emergency hospital in San Francisco.

Investigation of the fire revealed that it apparently started in a defective oil furnace in the building, which, in addition to being the dormitory for 35 boys, is also their recreation hall.

Frawley, with the other youths housed at the La Honda home for wayward boys, is assisting in repairing the damaged structure to relieve the pressure of having to sleep in other buildings on the grounds.

The youths were given credit by Watson and San Mateo County Fire Warden Bert L. Werder for bringing the blaze under control before it spread to other parts of the ranch.

Red Cross Board To Buy Station Wagon

The executive board of the Redwood City Chapter, American Red Cross, this week voted $1500 to purchase a station wagon for the Menlo Park-Atherton branch. The chapter also voted funds to purchase adequate insurance for three vehicles operated by the chapter in Redwood City. The joint executive-board-advisory board meeting was provisionally scheduled for the first week in October.

260 Persons Attend C. of C. Barbecue

More than 260 persons attended the annual Chamber of Commerce Barbecue Saturday night, hailing the affair as one of the most successful yet sponsored by the Redwood City chapter.

Impromptu entertainment for the evening was furnished by Jan de Hartog, a well-known radio and stage star in Holland, now in the Dutch Merchant Marine, who sang several English and Dutch songs. De Hartog, who recently returned from a trip to the South Pacific, has participated in short wave broadcasts from New York to his native Holland.

Twenty soldiers from Dibble Hospital, along with other service men, were present at the barbecue which was held on the Sequoia High School grounds.

Fred Schmitz was general chairman of the barbecue and was assisted by H. E. (Eddie) Holmquist, head chef, and other members of the committee.

E. W. (Ned) Butler, manager of the chamber of commerce, today expressed his thanks to all those who assisted in cooking, serving, cleaning up the school grounds, and otherwise helping to make the affair a success.

The Canadian aviation industry employment has increased in wartime from 1000 to 75,000.
